

- c. Antivirus feels like a safety net but relying on it alone is like locking your front door while leaving the windows wide open. In light of this, Is Antivirus enough to protect your data? How else can we protect our data from security threats? (10 marks)

QUESTION SIX

Write short notes about the following

- a. Free software & Open-source software (5marks)
- b. Copyright & Copyleft (5marks)
- c. Proprietary software and Labor exploitation of free software (5marks)
- d. Worker surveillance & Privacy concerns (5marks)
- e. Business automation & AI induced unemployment

=END=

QUESTION THREE

A tech startup launched a mobile application featuring an original design interface combined with its distinctive features and naming scheme. After some months, a larger corporation launched an application with the same user functions under a different name. The startup reported different instances of intellectual property infringement.

- a. Advise the tech startup on various forms of intellectual property that can be put into consideration to protect their invention. (8marks)
- b. Explain the key factors you can use to determine fair use in the computing environment. (7 marks)
- c. Discuss the challenges small startup firm encounter while protecting their intellectual property against the already existing large corporations? (10 marks)

QUESTION FOUR

- a. Social media users need methods to safeguard their information embedded on these platforms. How can the social media users ensure that their personal data is safe on the social media platforms? (10 marks)
- b. Why should companies not be allowed to collect user data without explicit consent? (6 marks)
- c. Analyse the various consequences individuals and organisations are likely to encounter for not having digital privacy policies in place. (9 marks)

QUESTION FIVE

- a. "Human curiosity is both a strength and a weakness- and attackers know exactly how to exploit it". What are the different ways in which hackers exploit human curiosity to spread malware. (5marks)
- b. Apart from human curiosity, what other threats should users protect their data from? (10marks)

MAKERERE UNIVERSITY BUSINESS SCHOOL
FINAL EXAMINATION FOR BACHELOR OF OFFICE AND INFORMATION
MANAGEMENT OF MAKERERE UNIVERSITY AY 2024/2025

COURSE NAME : COMPUTING ETHICS
YEAR OF STUDY : III SEMESTER : II
CREDIT UNITS : 4 COURSE CODE : BUC 3226
DATE : 14/05/2025 TIME : 9:00am– 12:00pm

INSTRUCTIONS

1. Attempt only four questions
2. Each question carries equal marks
3. Using practical examples will earn you extra marks
4. Start each question on a new page

QUESTION ONE

- a. what is the main focus of consequentialism theory, and how does it determine the morality of an action. (6 marks)
- b. Explain the strength and weaknesses of consequentialism theory. (10 marks)
- c. Under what circumstances of consequentialism can an action containing good intentions count as morally wrong? (9 marks)

QUESTION TWO

- a. Explain the differences between morality and law? (6 marks)
- b. Discuss the various moral problems an individual is likely to face while using the Internet? (10 marks)
- c. Evaluate whether internet users should be held legally accountable for sharing fake news, even if they didn't originally create it. (9 marks)